EMPOWERING THE NEXT GENERATION OF ENVIRONMENTAL STEWARDS.

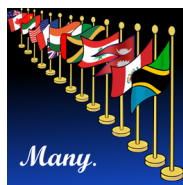

For One Shared Earth is a children's book that invites readers on a captivating journey to celebrate and protect our beautiful planet. Through lyrical verses and vibrant illustrations, this book highlights the wonders of Earth—from its vast oceans and lush forests to its atmosphere and skies. Focusing on inspiring care for the environment, it's the perfect introduction to global stewardship, encouraging children to dream big and take small actions that make a lasting impact.

“For One Shared Earth is a must-have for your nature-themed children's book collection! The words are simple yet profound. The illustrations are imaginative and vivid. They draw you into a vision of a world of our deepest longing—peace, community, devotion to caring for each other and for all who live on this beloved Earth.”

—Jennifer Elwell Comeau, children's book author, novelist, Certified Forest Therapy Guide, and Earth ally

“With simple writing and vivid illustrations, One Shared Earth makes a big point kids are sure to understand.”

—Ellen Dee Davidson, awarding-winning children's book author

If readers like Lisa Bullard's Earth Day Every Day, Monica Sweeney's How the Crayons Saved the Earth, Sophie Beer's Change Starts with Us, and Loll Kirby's Old Enough to Save the Planet, they'll be captivated by For One Shared Earth.

Daphne and Gerald Mercer are educators and authors from Mount Pearl, Newfoundland and Labrador, Canada. Daphne has authored children's books such as The Egret Tree and Sultan Saves, while Gerald has written and illustrated titles like The Others Were Missing. Together, they create literature that fosters empathy, understanding, and environmental stewardship in young readers.
